I have spoken of Gaylussac. The storm raged. I know not what will become of us. If the influence of certain good men can do it we shall be put down. Luring for Cowles awakening opposition & suspicion. By forcing collected on me yesterday & so ill we must not break Hollister to pieces but we should if a S. H. come now come there - intimating that I should break them to pieces - that I have been officious. I told him if he would not tell tales I would incur the whole budget. & then stolee that I was asked to go there myself & decline but told them of a friend - that therefore I was not obnoxious to the charge of officiousness — So you see we have a talk - He will moreover that Gaylussac was unconscious & should be collected by the right man. —

I have a moment —

Well then I have sent to Dr John P. Cowles of N. Haven & expect him today to supply them at the lecture — hope he will take.
— was asked myself to have my people & preach there (allowing $800) — this is intervenor But somebody I know not who has raised a hundred & forty about Paylorism also heresy & the good people are looking wild.
Diagnosis unknown.

You must go to Concord —

How do you do — how that dear good wife. May a kind Providence meet an approaching crisis with the mildest features. & then the post be no more remembered for joy & — with love to wife — your Br J. L.

I have just preached for Mr. Fair
